Course Description, Prerequisites, Corequisites:

Project work is integral to providing services within the senior service sector. This practicum provides an opportunity for students to integrate, synthesize and apply skills and theoretical approaches they have learned in the classroom to a specific project in a practice/agency setting with older adults. Students spend one day a week implementing a project or a portion of a larger project for a community and/or organizational setting under the supervision of an agency supervisor.

Prerequisites and Corequisites unavailable, please consult Department for details.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to…

- Demonstrate an open self-directed approach to learning
- Demonstrate the ability to seek and use consultation to complete necessary aspects of projects
- Demonstrate practice that reflects the values and ethics of professional practice throughout the project development and implementation processes
- Identify and discuss how the outcomes of the projects support older adults
- Identify and describe examples of the integration of theory and practice related to project work
- Locate, interpret, and evaluate appropriate academic research or resources
