Post-Degree Diploma in Business Administration

PROGRAM INTAKES: SEPTEMBER, JANUARY, OR MAY

This two-year program is targeted towards students who wish to pursue a career in business administration, and is suitable for both domestic and international students.

The PDD-BA, with its emphasis on applied learning, brings real-world experience into the curriculum. Students will gain a global perspective and work comfortably with people of different cultures. They will also develop critical thinking and conflict resolution skills, as well as negotiation and project management abilities. Graduates will be able to use international management principles and practices and apply them in a global business environment.

Program Schedule
The program consists of three semesters of in-class studies plus an experiential work term. This program will be offered in the daytime, during weekdays.

Advanced Option: Project Management Certificate
Students have the option to add an Advanced Project Management certificate to their program. Course work for the Advanced Option takes place during the fourth semester. For admission requirements and program details, visit www.langara.bc.ca/project.

Requirements
- Applicants must have a bachelor’s degree from a recognized college or university.
- Adequate command of spoken and written English is required for admission (please refer to website for acceptable English credentials). Students who do not possess the minimum English requirement will have the option to enroll in the Langara English for Academic Purposes (LEAP) program in order to meet this requirement.

Continuing Studies Post-Degree Diploma in Supply Chain and Logistics

PROGRAM INTAKES: SEPTEMBER, JANUARY

Effective supply chain management is critical to the success of many organizations that operate in international markets. Manufacturers, service providers, and suppliers must carefully manage their resources, operations, and transportation flows to meet the needs of customers.

Langara College Continuing Studies offers a two-year, full-time Post-Degree Diploma program that prepares university and college graduates for careers in this rising global industry.

Program Schedule
The program consists of 23 required courses (ranging from 18 - 50 hours per course), offered on weekdays and evenings. The final term is an unpaid experiential work term.

Other Designations
Graduates will also obtain Canadian International Freight Forwarders Association (CIFFA) Certificate accreditation. Supply Chain Management Association British Columbia will accept course equivalents from the program toward the Supply Chain Management Professional (SCMP) designation.

Requirements
• Successful completion of a 3- or 4-year accredited Bachelor's degree from a recognized university or college.
• Students must demonstrate English-language proficiency. Please refer to the website for details on this requirement. Students who do not meet minimum English requirements will have the option to enroll in the Langara English for Academic Purposes (LEAP) program to fulfill this requirement and then enter the program.

Post-Degree Certificate in Journalism

PROGRAM INTAKE: SEPTEMBER

This program provides students with the skills and knowledge necessary for entry-level jobs in journalism, communications, and public relations, whether in print, broadcasting, or online. The program emphasizes strong writing skills – the necessary groundwork for careers in all sectors.

This certificate program is designed to give students with a university degree the opportunity to take specialized training at high speed. This intensive, skills-oriented experience is designed to build on the student’s academic background, providing our graduates with the tools to work as well-informed journalists or communications professionals.

Program Schedule
The first semester focuses on introductory and basic skills courses; the second semester on advanced journalism practices. A Certificate in Journalism is awarded for successful completion of the two-term certificate stream. The department provides an option for students to do internships with local media or communications departments in December and April, with faculty playing the lead roll in finding placements.

Requirements
• A university degree in a field judged by the Journalism Department to be useful for journalism. Persons lacking a degree but with substantial academic achievement combined with a demonstrated interest or limited experience in journalism may be admitted by permission of the Journalism Department.
• A high level of achievement in English and/or writing in students’ previous academic works.
• Successful completion of the Journalism Program entrance test that includes sections on English language usage, current events, and news writing.
• A résumé.
• A minimum 500-word typed statement of intent indicating why you want to be a journalist and your career goals.
• An interview with journalism faculty may be required.
