

Work Permit Holders Studying in Canada Without a Study Permit

Langara Global

DLI # 019319074622

Immigration Refugee and Citizenship Canada introduced a new temporary public policy that began as of Jun 27, 2023 which allows eligible foreign workers, on valid work permits, to study without a study permit.

What does this new Temporary Public Policy mean?

Workers that qualify for the temporary public policy are able to study in part-time or full-time classes until the expiration of the public policy without a study permit

Workers must have a valid work permit or submitted an extension of a work permit, and be authorized to work before June 7, 2023.

Am I eligible for this temporary policy and will I be able to study at Langara College?

You may be eligible to study without a study permit while you work. To be eligible, you must be authorized to work in Canada with either of the following:

- a valid work permit that was issued on or before June 7, 2023, or
- a letter authorizing you to work while we process your work permit extension application o The letter must have been issued on or before June 7, 2023.

If you applied for a work permit after June 7, 2023, you're not eligible for these measures.

When does the temporary policy expire?

The temporary policy is valid until the earliest of the 2 following dates:

- The expiry date on your work permit
- June 27, 2026 (the date the public policy expires)

What if my work permit application is in progress on June 7, 2023?

An applicant should apply for a study permit to continue your studies

- if they want to register for a course, degree or program that extends beyond the above dates or
- if their work permit extension application is refused

Are there any restrictions with the types of program I can study with my work permit at Langara College?

No, there are no restrictions with the programs that an applicant can study. As long as entrance requirements are met and seats are available applicants are eligible to study in any program that is offered at Langara College part time or full time.

Am I eligible to receive a Post Grad Work Permit (PGWP) if I start my studies without a study permit?

Applicants can only receive a PGWP one time in their lifetime. However, if an applicant has never applied for a PGWP they might be eligible for the PGWP if they meet the eligibility requirements. Please visit the IRCC webpage for PGWP eligibility.
