Course Outline

Course Code, Number, and Title:

SOCI 1120 Introduction to Sociology: Models and Concepts

Course Format: Classroom based

Credits: 3

Transfer Credit: For information, visit bctransferguide.ca

Course Description, Prerequisites, Corequisites:

What is the social world and our place in it? Students examine a wide range of concepts, theories, and issues that shape reciprocal relationships between society and the individual. Subjects may include culture; socialization; social interaction; groups and organizations; sexuality and society; mass media, deviance and crime; and forms of social inequality such as global and class stratification, and race and ethnic relations.

Note: SOCI 1120 and SOCI 1121 may be taken in any order, or concurrently, as they are complementary first year courses.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to

1. Identify key concepts, key thinkers, and sociological theories that pertain to such areas as social interaction, culture, socialization, and mass media.
2. Describe key concepts, sociological theories, and their relationships to key thinkers as they pertain to such areas as social interaction, culture, socialization and mass media.
3. Analyze - from different conceptual and theoretical perspectives - issues that pertain to such areas as the sociology of social interaction, culture, socialization and mass media.
4. Critically assess different conceptual and theoretical approaches to understanding such areas as the sociology of social interaction, culture, socialization, and mass media.
