

Faculty Representative, Arts - Pat Vera: I am an architect, designer, and educator with multidisciplinary practice in art and design. I would be honored to serve as the Faculty of Arts Representative on the Curriculum Review Committee. As a dedicated faculty member in Fine Arts, I am committed to strengthening the academic excellence and creative vitality of our college. My experience teaching and practicing across diverse creative fields provides a comprehensive perspective on how the transformative power of curriculum design can inspire critical thinking, cultural understanding, and imaginative exploration. I aim to contribute thoughtfully to advancing inclusive, future-oriented approaches that support both students and faculty in cultivating a space where every individual can thrive. Thank you for the opportunity.

Faculty Representative, Management - Francesca Deveau: In my 18 years at Langara College, I have been involved and committed to college curriculum on many levels. My previous experience includes being a Curriculum Coordinator in the School of Management, Online Learning Coordinator (LSM), Marketing Department Chair. I have also sat on EdTech Committees for Online Learning. I helped develop a Financial Services Diploma and have worked collaboratively with departments across the college such as EdTech, and TCDC on Curriculum reviews and approvals for EdCo for LSM. I have also participated as an external consultant to the BBA Program reviews at College of the Rockies and Kwantlen Polytechnic University. Currently I am on the Langara School of Management BBA Review Committee to help develop a new BBA program, with plans to launch in September 2027.

Support Staff Representative, At-Large - Angelica Lillico-Ouachour: About eight years ago, I was fortunate to begin my career at the College as a Laboratory Demonstrator. Since then, I have been dedicated to fostering a supportive and engaging learning environment for our students. My commitment to this work has led me to serve as a union steward and to participate on both the Education Council and the Curriculum Review Committee. I am also currently completing my PhD, where my research focuses on authentic learning in science education—work that continues to shape how I think about curriculum and student experience.

I would value the opportunity to continue serving on the CRC for a second term to help ensure our curriculum reflects inclusive practices, accessibility, and meaningful learning opportunities for all students. I aim to bring a student-centered, evidence-informed perspective to the committee's discussions and decisions. Most importantly, I understand that this position represents the collective voice of all support staff. I am committed to listening carefully, engaging openly, and advocating faithfully on your behalf. I hope to continue strengthening our representation and contributing to a college environment where our voices are heard and valued.

Faculty Representative, Social Sciences and Community Programs - Chantal Faucher: It has been my privilege to serve as Faculty representative for the Faculty of Social Sciences and Community Programs for the past four years. I have learned a great deal about the process of ensuring Langara's programs are of the highest quality, articulate properly with other post-secondary education programs, and reflect our institutional values. I would be honoured to continue to work with the stakeholders at this table for another two years.
